

Just Enough

Whew. I had just enough yarn. I can tell now that the sweater is blocking and looking might fine. This yarn has incredible stitch definition.

See how pretty the center cables look?

Revknits

Faith and life seen through the stitches we make.

<http://revknits.com>

Part of the way I stretched the yarn was to use the taupe colorway for the knitted hems. And I totally love the TECHknitter's instructions on doing the sewn version:

Revknits

Faith and life seen through the stitches we make.
<http://revknits.com>

The last bit is to put a button on - I found a lovely one at Bluebird Yarn that I'll pick up this week. Right now, the weather is quite warm, so I'm not stressing about Mom wanting to wear it soon.