

More Than Just One Hour

My spindling worked out well last night:

I'll try to take a photo soon of the resulting fiber. As it turned out today, much of our county got an extra hour and a half of earth hour this afternoon - the power went out in a good portion of the county. I was off in another county while this happened. I hope we got extra credit!