

Tour de Fleece -Day Five

Happy Independence Day! ~~(NSA approved message)~~

Onto the spinning. I'm finished with one of the three projects for Tour de Fleece.

First, fingering weight BFL wool, spun on my Lovely Asciano spindle. So smooth and lovely that I have to figure out a good pattern for it.

Second, a yarn very different from the first, a wooly untamable kind of funky tweed. I love it!

Revknits

Faith and life seen through the stitches we make.

<http://revknits.com>

I love this yarn - it's fluffy, bouncy, full of texture. This is just the first half, so more fun to come!

Today I'm at the Marin County Fair to demo spinning with my much more expert friend, Judy. I'm sure we will evangelize some into the fiber world.