

Fill Bowl with Yarn, knit. Repeat.

This baby knitting for Afghans for Afghans has gripped me. I did a bunch of socks (each pair took about an hour while watching TV):

and now I'm organizing my worsted wool scraps as follows for baby hats.

First, fill bowl with coordinating yarn scraps. I used a combination of Noro and my own handspun for this bowl.

Second, knit a hat.

Revknits

Faith and life seen through the stitches we make.
<http://revknits.com>

Third, repeat as needed. So much fun! and the yarn bowl is beautiful enough to keep out among the keepsakes.

