

Out with the Old, in with the New

I was on Ravelry and heard a horror story about someone who found their Blogger Blog had been deleted. Gone. Zip. Never to return. And Blogger was being very unhelpful in learning what was going on. And so I took a look at Wordpress, loved what I saw, and found a new home here with a leafy, flowery theme to go with it.

Glad you're here, I'm off to SoCal tomorrow, will be knitting but not blogging as far as I can plan. See you in the New Year! One final pre-Christmas photo: a variation on the Slouchy Copy Cat Hat.

