

Twist, for sure

The addiction continues. Twist has cast a spell over me, and I am helpless to resist. These popped over the weekend:

And I caught this photo, and I didn't even know that Izzie was there - kinda cool.

Revknits

Faith and life seen through the stitches we make.
<http://revknits.com>

The improvised pattern uses a tubular cast-on for 36 stitches, then do a mini-cable to go into 2x2 ribbing. I did another mini-twist at the beginning of the thumb gusset, which is done most in 1x1 ribbing.

Revknits

Faith and life seen through the stitches we make.
<http://revknits.com>

The cast-off for the hand is my switch out to a tubular cast-off, while the thumb gusset was done conventionally in pattern.

Revknits

Faith and life seen through the stitches we make.
<http://revknits.com>

