

Homestretch

I'm getting there on the sweater - the sleeves are done, joined to the body, and I've finished (i.e. designed on the fly and knit) the first color pattern for the yoke, done the first decreases, and beginning on the second color pattern (to match the sleeve).

I'm pretty happy with it:

and so is Izzie:

Revknits

Faith and life seen through the stitches we make.
<http://revknits.com>

The goal is to finish the knitting today, and do the blocking today and tomorrow.

Yesterday, I went to the intermediate spindling class, it was awesome, and I'll more after Stitches West. Just too much happening this week!