

Tour de Fleece - Day One

Let's start off by saying that so far, my first day is going better than Tour de France.

I'm planning three different spins this time. First off, finish plying my lace-weight BFL wool, naturally dyed by A Verb for Keeping Warm:

Revknits

Faith and life seen through the stitches we make.
<http://revknits.com>

On the opposite extreme, I am spinning the batt I bought at the fiber festival:

Revknits

Faith and life seen through the stitches we make.

<http://revknits.com>

Ooohh, pretty!

and then I joined a team to make a friendship ball of yarn. I was thinking of using this:

And I have finished my linen tank of my own devising - stay tuned!

but then I heard from our team leader we might be going for white plain wool.